Baritone Harry Greenleaf is a fifth year senior at MSU where he studies voice with Richard Fracker and Dr. Harlan Jennings. Highlights of his time at MSU include singing several leading roles in Main Stage shows including La finta giardiniera (Nardo), The Grapes of Wrath (Connie Rivers), The Pirates of Penzance (Pirate King), A Little Night Music (Carl-Magnus), and The Magic Flute (Papageno). He has had the opportunity to sing in master classes with several internationally acclaimed singers such as soprano Janet Williams, bass Eric Halfvarson, baritone Kim Josephson, and soprano superstar Renée Fleming. In the summer of 2013 he was a studio artist with the Wolf Trap Opera Company in Vienna, Virginia. While at Wolf Trap, Greenleaf performed the role of Baron Douphol in La traviata with the National Symphony Orchestra at the Filene Center. He will be receiving his bachelor’s degree in May, and will be returning to the Wolf Trap Opera Company as a studio artist during the summer. In the fall, he plans to be starting a master’s degree at either the University of Houston, Rice University, or the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music.

I-Pei Lin began playing the violin at 6 years of age in Taipei, Taiwan. She is currently a doctoral student at Michigan State University and studies with Dmitri Berinsky. She earned a performer diploma at the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music in 2013 and studied with Alexander Kerr. She received a master’s degree and bachelor’s degree at the National Taiwan Normal University in 2012 and studied with Nanette Chin-Horng Chen. She attended the Festival of Heifetz International Music Institute, accepted the instruction by David and Linda Cerone, Mihaela Martin, Ani Kavafian, Alexander Kerr and Philip Setzer in 2011. She took part in the workshop program of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, was taught by the members of Emerson Quartet and Guarneri Quartet, Leon Fleisher and Ani Kavafian, and performed at National Concert Hall in Taipei in 2009.

The 50-member MSU State Singers, an auditioned undergraduate ensemble, includes music majors and some talented non-music majors. This choir enjoys a proud heritage and is recognized as the oldest singing organization on campus. The State Singers ensemble appears in concert throughout Michigan, frequently joining the University Chorale and University Symphony for major works and convention appearances.
